UMW Chief Announces Departure from Industry-Wide Bargaining

ORDERS TO OFFICIALS

Tells Union Heads "To Make Contracts With Individual Companies"

By International News Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 1 — John L. Lewis ordered the nation's coal miners—both in the hard and soft coal fields—into the mines Monday on a three-day work-week basis.

The United Mine Workers chief at the same time announced a departure from industry-wide bargaining and authorized union officials "to make wage contracts with any or all individual companies."

When such individual contracts have been negotiated, the Lewis statement added—"the three-day work operating limitation becomes non-effective."

The nation's 400,000 soft coal miners had started their fourth strike of the year today, just 24 days before Christmas.

It was thought only Government intervention could send the men back to the pits. Lewis, whose silence ended a three-week truce and brought on the renewed walk-out, has not yet reached contract agreement with any operator.

Lewis had told his men before Christmas that he would not

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

It is not United States policy to convoy shipping through the Nationalists' "so-called blockade" of Communist-held ports in China, Secretary Acheson said. While firing on United States merchantmen violates this country's legal rights, he added, vessels enter those waters at their own risk. Mr. Acheson sharply assailed the "inhuman treatment" of a Navy electrician and a marine sergeant held incommunicado for more than a year by the Communists. Chungking fell to the Chinese Communists, the third Nationalist capital to be captured.

Yugoslavia, in the United Nations General Assembly, defied the Soviet Union to make effective the Cominform's call for an all-out drive on the Tito Government. Hector McNeill of Britain said the Cominform resolution was "more like a war manifesto than a peace manifesto." Yugoslavia carries its defiance a step farther today when it places 12 Russians on trial as spies for Moscow. Bulgaria charged former Deputy Premier Kostov and ten others with treason and espionage.

The Defense Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty nations are expected to approve in Paris today an "integrated" collective defense plan. Germany's role in the defense of Western Europe is the most perplexing problem. Young Germans in the Soviet zone, it was said, are being dismissed from their jobs and enrolled in the heavily armed People's Police force.

New Zealand, after 14 years under a Labor Government that pressed nationalization, voted the Socialists out and installed the free-enterprise Nationalists. Sidney G. Holland will succeed Premier Fraser.

Representative J. Parnell Thomas withdrew his plea of not guilty to charges of padding Federal payrolls and will be sentenced on Dec. 9th. The case against his secretary was dismissed.

The Government was ordered to show cause on Monday why the espionage and conspiracy indictments in the Copton-Gubitch case should not be thrown out if based on information obtained through wire-tapping.

GIVES INFORMATION ON STOCK CAR RACES

Walter J. Siwak, Newtown, Familiarizes Kiwanians With Details

PROJECT PROGRESSES

PENNDLE, Dec. 1 — Walter J. Siwak, of Newtown, familiarized members of Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis Club with stock cars and the racing business at the dinner meeting held on Tuesday evening, at the Royal Gardens, Bensalem township.

Mr. Siwak said that stock car racing started in 1939, and has gained so much appeal that today "this sport draws more people than any other sport except basketball."

In part he informed: "Drivers and owners of stock cars take a great deal of time in preparing the cars for a race. There is the problem of heating; they try to adjust the car so that it will not overheat. Tires are checked carefully, unnecessary equipment is stripped from the cars and the engine is gone over and over until the driver thinks it is perfect. Stock car racers study weather conditions two or three days prior to the race and also the condition of the track. Experience is a must."

Deep Sea Diver Thrills Doylestown High Pupils

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1 — Robert M. Zimmerman, a deep sea diver, described some of his adventures in a talk entitled "On the Bottom of the Sea" when he spoke to pupils of grades 10, 11 and 12, in Doylestown high school, Monday.

The speaker, who had begun his career by working as a double for various "movie" stars in dangerous roles of the deep sea, and in doing salvage work around wrecks, explained that he had become interested in things growing in the depths of the ocean. He then began a hobby of collecting fish, coral and shells. He exhibited a large number of these to the students, who were extremely interested in the collection, which included porcupine fish, barracuda, sword and parrot fish, various types of the coral and shells from many seas.

According to the complainant, his car was standing along Route 213, east of Langhorne, June 9, 1948, when it was struck by a truck operated by the defendant in a westerly direction.

Frank Krause has named Mullin Motor Company, Inc., Ambler, and Al DeRose, Hazleton, the defendants in an action in trespass. The $68 suit grows out of an accident on the Bethlehem Pike, Route 309, near Souderton, Feb. 10, when the defendant's vehicle was being driven south on the highway.

Ralph E. McKinsey, formerly of Ardmore, now of Lahaska, has been named the defendant in an action in assumpsit by the Texas Company, of Philadelphia.

YARDLEY COUNCIL TO ACT UPON A ZONING LAW

Question of Amendment To Be Considered Tomorrow Night

SOME ARE OPPOSED

More Than 50 Residents Attended A Public Hearing

YARDLEY, Dec. 1 — Action upon a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance is supposed to be acted upon at a meeting of borough council tomorrow night.

More than 50 Yardley residents crowded into the Community Center here Tuesday night to discuss a proposed amendment to the current zoning ordinance which would change a section of the borough from an "A" to "B" residential district.

The amendment, proposed by the Penn Valley Construction Co., would affect what is now known as the Cadwallader and Pwining tract on College and Afton Aves. Approximately 150 homes in the $10,000 price range will be constructed there by the Penn Valley Co. if the amendment is approved by borough council.

The present zone calls for lots of 100 by 125 feet, whereas the "B" residential zone would require lots of 60 by 100 feet — the size planned by the contractors.

At the meeting, which was called by borough council in order to sample opinions of residents affected by the amendment, several residents of the College Ave. section appeared to protest the change. Among property owners who opposed the measure were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Belleville 3d, who own a large tract of land on West College Ave.; Mrs. Bruce Woodhouse and S. Yuhas, both of W. College Ave. Mrs. William Felger appeared in behalf of the amendment, as did Louis Leedom and T. Sidney Cadwallader.

"Have you left the keys in your cars since?" Judge Blester asked the Tullytown witness. "Not since," he replied with a smile.

The defendant, Ferry, who pleaded guilty to two charges of operating a car without the owner's consent, was sentenced to serve not less than two months nor more than a year. His present sentence will begin at the expiration of a sentence he is now serving for another offense. Sentence was suspended on the one bill.

The defendant, who was given a medical discharge from the Navy because he went to sleep twice the same day while on "watch" (guard duty) has been in prison since October 8.

He admitted stealing John Zuchero's car which was parked in front of a barbershop October 1. He drove it about 175 or 200 miles before abandoning it in Bristol.

He stole VanDine's car October 6 in Bristol while the owner was attending the movies. He drove it to Atlantic City and other places and was apprehended in Trenton, N. J., where he was going the wrong way on a one-way street.

State Policeman Stanley R. Balut, of South Langhorne, and Bristol Policeman H. F. Esterline investigated the cases.

ED MENACE IN BRITAIN

campaign message circulated in Britain by the Labor party — socialists — says the election year will remove forever the ruling class of the British. Although the socialists don't right out and say so, they state that henceforth there will be a classless society, with no one able to lord it over anybody else.

Now erroneous the laborites if they really believe that can be established by a glimpse of the future. If they are using the present as campaign material to deceive, it is a deception, a decidedly uncomplimentary one.

That the British socialists are going forward to the complete destruction of the Conservative Party by the installation of a one-party system is a dictator. The socialists, lords and similar characters would be the labor's henchmen.

There would one ruling class be substituted for another at the cost of representative government for hundreds of years has been the British in his individual rights.

Politics in too many lands is being total war against all opposition and the installation of a one-party system. The British ought to be realistic enough to recognize the danger instead of falling into the trap of elimination of the ruling class.

The danger of rigid rule such as England hasn't had since the days of the despotic kings is very real. The forces that are making strides in bringing it about almost unlimited access to the United States Treasury.

ALEMAN'S COMMITMENT

Mexico, through President Aleman, has made the sweeping commitment to the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere in history. Aleman pledged in advance the resources of Mexico to repel an invasion wherever it occurs.

is heartening development in light of what the situation has been in Mexico at times in the past. In World War I this country did not hit it off with the Germans being in high command below the Rio Grande.

or to World War II Russia, an ambassador there, who seemed at times the favorite of the Mexican people.

Now foreign ideologies seem to be in Mexico, if President Aleman is voicing the sentiment of the people. He is shoulder to shoulder with all the Western Hemisphere nations except Argentina, which is still a question.

United States is lending assistance to Mexico's development. It is possible Aleman made announcement coincident with the edge of still more assistance. Being gained by closing one's eyes to the fact that nations are not to the United States like pollen, and for the same reason.

Keys Left in Cars Which Were Stolen

Bristol, testified that the defendant's father has not interested himself in the boy and that his grandmother and he will move to California as soon as he is released from prison.

The defendant said, "I was drinking all day and when I saw the cars I got in to sit down."

President Judge Hiram H. Keller issued a warning to sailors, who are minors, indulging in alcoholic drinks in enlisted men's clubs at naval stations.

John E. Adams, 18, of Washington, Pa., who is stationed at the Johnstown Naval Air Development Station, and who pleaded guilty to drunken driving, involving a three-car accident, was sentenced to serve not less than one month nor more than 12 in the County Prison by Judge Edward G. Biester. He was also directed to pay the costs of prosecution.

The defendant, whose three-car collision caused damages amounting to $590 and admitted he had no money to pay them, testified he drank several bottles of beer at the enlisted men's club at the Willow Grove Naval Air Station.

A passenger in the defendant's car, William H. Smith, 18, of Minnesota, who is also at NADS, admitted that he drank beer at the same club. Both minors were reprimanded by the Court.

"Doesn't the Navy observe the same laws about selling beer to minors that the State does?" Judge Keller asked the two minors. "We lied about our ages," replied the sailors.

Lieut. (jg) Earl N. White, personnel officer at NADS, testified that the defendant received a pay of $90 a month. He also informed the Court that the Navy conforms with the same liquor laws which operate in the state in which the station is located.

"Your enlisted men's club will have to be more careful and stop selling beer to minors," Judge Keller said. "What efforts are you making to restrain minors from drinking in the EM club?" the Court asked Lt. White.

Two other sailor passengers, Lawrence Wehus, 23, and Robert Spoulen, 23, North Dakota, were in the defendant's car and joy-riding when the accident happened Nov. 19 in Hartsville.

Chief of Police Paul J. Brennan, Warminster twp., arrested the defendant whose car halted in a field 500 feet from the point of collision. Dr. Clark, who found him to be intoxicated, also pronounced him unfit to drive a car.

The defendant, whose father is in the Army, has been in the Navy 21 months. He denied that he gave the name of "Joseph Thompson" after the crash. "We had the afternoon off and went riding to Norristown, Ambler, Willow Grove and Jamison."

The quartet denied they stopped in to drink at any taverns or bars while cruising about the country.

Fred Degel, Jenkintown, whose car was damaged $375.77 and has not been paid, testified he saw headlights coming toward him and couldn't get away from them.

Morris Snyder, whose car was damaged to the extent of $215, and remains unpaid, testified his car had just been parked when the Degel car was shoved into it by the defendant's car striking the Degel vehicle.

"My wife said, 'Why they are all drunk,' and Adams told me his name was 'Joseph Thompson', but I found out later he was lying," Snyder testified. "It is my opinion that if the front wheel had not been damaged as badly as it was on the defendant's car he would have kept on going."

Judge Biester suggested the defendant make some arrangements.

HULMEVILLE

A family dinner was served at the home of Edward Mills, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sileo on Thursday.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mills and son Ralph, Jr., of Rhode Island; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and children "Betty," Nancy and "Eddie," Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mills, Jr., and daughters Mary, Jennifer and Diane, Croydon; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Amlaw, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph delGaudio and daughter Dorothy Ann, Treviso.

Alex P. Mills, Sr., and Barbara Ann Sileo, Hulmeville. An attack of mumps has confined "Tommy" Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Lieut. (jg) Earl N. White, personnel officer at NADS, testified that the defendant received a pay of $90 a month. He also informed the Court that the Navy conforms with the same liquor laws which operate in the state in which the station is located.

"Your enlisted men's club will have to be more careful and stop selling beer to minors," Judge Keller said. "What efforts are you making to restrain minors from drinking in the EM club?" the Court asked Lt. White.

Two other sailor passengers, Lawrence Wehus, 23, and Robert Spoulen, 23, North Dakota, were in the defendant's car and joy-riding when the accident happened Nov. 19 in Hartsville.

Chief of Police Paul J. Brennan, Warminster twp., arrested the defendant whose car halted in a field 500 feet from the point of collision. Dr. Clark, who found him to be intoxicated, also pronounced him unfit to drive a car.

The defendant, whose father is in the Army, has been in the Navy 21 months. He denied that he gave the name of "Joseph Thompson" after the crash. "We had the afternoon off and went riding to Norristown, Ambler, Willow Grove and Jamison."

The quartet denied they stopped in to drink at any taverns or bars while cruising about the country.

Fred Degel, Jenkintown, whose car was damaged $375.77 and has not been paid, testified he saw headlights coming toward him and couldn't get away from them.

Morris Snyder, whose car was damaged to the extent of $215, and remains unpaid, testified his car had just been parked when the Degel car was shoved into it by the defendant's car striking the Degel vehicle.

"My wife said, 'Why they are all drunk,' and Adams told me his name was 'Joseph Thompson', but I found out later he was lying," Snyder testified. "It is my opinion that if the front wheel had not been damaged as badly as it was on the defendant's car he would have kept on going."

Judge Biester suggested the defendant make some arrangements.

CHRISTMAS FACTS

The Christmas berry or California holly is a shrub found chiefly in the chaparral area of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California.

There are two Christmas islands. One is an atoll in the Gilbert and Ellice islands. The other is a British possession in Indian Ocean.

In France and Scotland many of the Christmas customs are observed on New Year's Day, particularly the exchanging of gifts.

La Befana and Yule Tomten are two foreign names for Santa Claus.

Hippolytus, in his commentary on the Book of Daniel, says Christ was born in Bethlehem on Wednesday, Dec. 25, in the 42nd year of the reign of the Roman Emperor Augustus.

In Rome, as late as 353 A. D., the Christmas Feast was celebrated along with the Baptismal Feast on Jan. 6.

In Scandinavian countries the observance of Christmas often begins with an elaborate supper on Christmas Eve, followed by family worship and singing. Then gifts are distributed.

A Lord of Misrule with his court was often appointed in medieval times to rule over Christmas festivities in the home.

In Brazil, King's Day as well as Christmas is a festival marked by the exchanging of gifts.

The lighted Christmas tree was introduced into England by Prince Albert, a German, shortly after his marriage to Queen Victoria.

The custom of the lighted Christmas tree was introduced into the United States by German immigrants.

St. Nicholas is regarded as the special saint of the schoolboy, and certain of the customs of "Montem Day" at Eton school in England, are said to have originated in his honor.

In France, Father Christmas is called Bonhomme Noel or Pere Noel.

In Norway, Christmas gifts are hidden away and the children have to search for them. In Italy, the gifts are drawn from the "Urn of Fate," a custom which originated with the ancient Romans.

In early England, Christmas was called "Christes Mense," which means "Christ's mass."

At first, the time of Christmas varied in different places, and some churches observed the festival in December, others in January, April and May.

The first Christmas Day festival held in Britain was according to legend celebrated by King Arthur in the city of York, A.D. 521. It lasted several days.

By the early Middle Ages Christmas had become the greatest of popular festivals. Churches were decorated and plays concerning the nativity were enacted. Images of the Virgin and Christ were carried from house to house.

In Shakespeare's time, the Christmas festivities often lasted for 12 days. During this period there was no work done of any kind.

A &amp; P Urges Public To Consider True Issue

Recent statements by Government anti-trust lawyers in the case against the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company are refuted in company advertisements published this week in 2,500 newspapers.

Under the bold heading, "Don't Let Anybody Fool You!" the ads state that success of the civil action will destroy A & P, raise the cost of food, and increase the likelihood of similar attacks on other chain stores.

The company states the anti-trust lawyers are "trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country. If they succeed in destroying A & P, they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world," the ads state.

The A & P arguments are directed against claims made by anti-trust representatives in speeches, radio talks, letters and newspaper releases. The Washington lawyers say that the suit will not close a single A & P store, will result in lower food prices and will only affect A & P.

The A & P points out that the court is being asked to "break up A & P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management," and to "order us to sell A & P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners."

"None of the present owners, who have made A & P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories," the ad continues. "No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A & P will be. Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A & P stores will remain open or will be closed. So, while there may be a food store where your A & P is now located, it won't be your A & P store. Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit, it will mean the end of A & P as you know it."

The company cites reasons why the suit would result in higher food prices instead of lower costs as the Government lawyers claim. "The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A & P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors. How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?"

The ad goes on to explain that the suit would make A & P get rid of its manufacturing facilities which enable it to pass savings along to consumers in the form of lower prices.

"Make no mistake about it," the ad states. "If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A & P out of business, you will find your food bill higher."

In refutation of the Government's claim that only the A & P will be affected, the ad points out that the suit can be used as a basis for an attack against other grocers and merchants in other lines.

"If A & P is destroyed," according to the company, "no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor."

The company's statement concludes by saying, "Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A & P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply and grows big in the process."

ence and knowledge of cars are important factors in winning a race. Of course a certain amount of luck enters into the picture," asserted Mr. Sivak.

"Pepper" Cunningham, a renowned stock-car driver, also made a few interesting remarks concerning stock-cars. He told of his many experiences as a driver, especially the races at the Daytona Beach, Fla., course. He spoke about the conditions of tracks — some are too dusty and others are too "slick" as a result of too much application of oil. He also spoke of the stock-car association which annually elects officers and directors and technical committees. Racers work on a point system all year and at the end of the year drivers who have amassed the most points receive the most money.

ill Tell of Strides Made By The Women of Japan

Travel Club members will meet tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock in the club home. This is the hour of meeting is in accordance with the unanimous vote of members at the last meeting. It was decided to change one of the by-laws, setting the time at two instead of 2:30 p. m. The theme of the program, which will be in the form of a play, will be the life of Mrs. Paul D. Brown, chairman of the education committee.

Genevieve Bowen, head of elementary education in Bucks County, will be the speaker. She will tell of her experiences in Japan during the time that she was minister of education in that country a year ago. Her talk will deal with the women of Japan and the strides they have taken in education during the past few years. It will be augmented by the showing of pictures.

At the end of Dr. Bowen's discourse, a short time will be devoted to questions and answers. Refreshments will be a guest day and tea will be served by Mrs. Harold N. Baker and Mrs. John Moyer, hosts.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Elwood Thornton Dyson
Acting Minister
Newportville Presbyterian Church

Our Gracious Heavenly Father, we commend to Thy care all who are sick, knowing that Thou dost readily heal us when we call upon Thy Name, even though our faith is weak and faltering. Remember, we pray Thee, the sorrowing ones whose hearts long for the comfort which assures that "underneath are the Everlasting Arms." Especially do we ask that Thou mayest give us strength to bring a needy world to the compassionate Redeemer of men, Jesus Christ. Our hearts are burdened sorely for those who have never heard His Gospel or having heard, yet remain indifferent to it. Remember them O Lord, and all Thy ministers upon whatever far-flung frontier of our Faith, that they with us may come to experience the divine grace which is truly sufficient for every human need, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

400,000 Soft-Coal Miners Ordered Back To Work On 3-Day Work-Week Basis

The truce ended to stay out of the mines until agreements were reached.

President Truman, vacationing in Key West, Fla., was reported awaiting the action of Lewis before intervening to end the strike.

The walkout started even before the 3-week truce ended at midnight last night. At scattered mines in western Pennsylvania, diggers showed up for work but went home after local UMW officials passed along the word "no work tonight."

However, most of the 11 p. m. shift worked as usual last night. Foremen explained that the men were entitled to another day's pay to make them even with workers on other shifts, and since they went in before the midnight deadline they were not violating Lewis' instructions.

It was generally conceded that there would be no revolt against the bristle-browed labor leader's dictates, and all soft coal mines will be closed when the day shift is due shortly after dawn.

This was the 75th working day the miners have been on strike this year. Each man has lost some $1,200 in wages in 1949, and the Christmas walkout will be hard to take.

Funds Provided For Trenton-Morrisville Span

Funds are to be provided through a temporary loan of $4,000,000 for the first step in the construction of a new bridge across the Delaware river between Morrisville and Trenton. Land can now be acquired for the span. The action was taken Tuesday in Philadelphia in the offices of Frank P. Murdock, counsel for the Delaware River Joint Toll Commission in the loan negotiations.

Accompanied by Attorney General T. McKee Chidsey, of Pennsylvania, commission members sold $1,000,000 in bond anticipation notes to several banks headed by the Pennsylvania Company for Banking and Trusts.

Earlier, the commission passed a resolution providing for a bond is-

WARNS MOTORISTS OF WINTER'S APPROACH*Chances of Accidents During Coming Months Increase*OUTLINES RULES

Chief of Police Linford J. Jones warned motorists today that with the approach of winter weather, their chances of having an accident are materially increased. He said his warning is based on tests and statistical facts. He urged all drivers and pedestrians to use extra care during the season of increased hazards ahead.

The best way to avoid a smashup, he said, is to follow certain fundamental driving rules laid down by experts, based upon years of experience and the study of hundreds of thousands of accidents.

These rules, Chief Jones explained, have been formulated by the National Safety Council as the result of extensive scientific tests and research. Here they are:

1. When starting on ice or snow, get the "feel" of the road surface. Test your braking and acceleration when clear of other cars.

2. Reduce speed when road surfaces are snowy or icy. Remember that it takes 3 to 12 times more distance to stop on snow or ice than on dry pavement.

3. Keep snow and ice off the outside of the windshield as well as fog and frost inside. Be sure your defroster is working and that wiper blades really wipe clean. Watch out for pedestrians.

4. When treacherous snow or ice prevail, use steel tire chains. They reduce braking distance for cars and trucks about 40 to 70 per cent and provide the "go" traction often needed.

5. Use an intermittent brake application. Normal application of brakes on an icy or snowy surface may lock wheels and throw vehicle out of control.

6. If possible, have tires with good treads. They provide better stopping ability on both dry and wet pavement. But even new rubber treads do not give normal traction on packed snow or ice. Tests also show that "rubber chains," sometimes skid farther than bare tires on ice. So "don't skid yourself."

Chief Jones said that experience shows that in northern states, the winter traffic accident death rate jumps 24 to 53 per cent above the summer figure and that this is almost entirely due to more difficult driving conditions, including ice and snow on highways, and shorter daylight hours.

"With more drivers on the road than ever before, every driver must exercise extra caution," he said. "It may save his own life, to say nothing of the lives of others. If every driver in Bristol will observe these six driving rules, then accidents this winter can be kept to a minimum. As the National Safety Council says, 'the life you save may be your own.'"

These Things Will Happen If The Anti-Trust Lawyers Have Their Way

When the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed their suit against A&P, we told the American people, our customers, our suppliers and our employees how this attack would affect them.

We said that this attack, if successful, would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

We said that it would mean higher food prices for American consumers.

We said that if they succeed in destroying A&P the way would be cleared for the destruction of other efficient large-scale retailers.

We thought the American people were entitled to know about this threat to their welfare and standard of living.

Since that time, however, the anti-trust lawyers have been making speeches, talking over the radio, writing letters and giving stories to the newspapers, in which they say we are all wrong.

They say that this suit will not close a single A&P store; and that instead of raising food prices it will lower them.

And they have tried to give the impression that nobody will be hurt by this decision except the present owners of A&P.

We don't think that the American people want to be confused by these statements. We know that when they have the facts, they will understand that this case can affect the living standards and the way of life of every American citizen.

Here are the facts:

It Will Destroy A&P

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that "the suit will not result in the closing of a single A&P store", and that "the purpose of the suit is to enjoin A&P from continuing activity which has been held to violate the law."

The fact is that the suit is designed not only to "enjoin" A&P from alleged illegal activities, but actually to destroy the company.

Here is what they have asked the court to do:

Break up A&P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management.

Order us to sell A&P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners.

Prevent any of the seven groups of stores from operating any of the factories.

None of the present owners, who have made A&P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

The first A&P store was opened 90 years ago. For the past 50 years the company has been managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford.

These are the men who have pioneered the policy of low-cost, low-profit, low-price food retailing which has won A&P the patronage of millions of American families and given them more good food for their money.

If the anti-trust lawyers have their way, these men and other company executives will be completely out of the picture. No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A&P will be.

No one can predict that they will sell the same quality food at the same low prices, or that they will keep the same employees, or give them the same high wages, short hours, pensions and security.

Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A&P stores will remain open or will be closed.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.

Your Food Will Cost More

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that the suit will not increase, but should decrease, grocery prices.

Anybody who has ever shopped in an A&P store, or has ever taken a high-school course in economics, knows better than that.

Everyone knows that A&P's policy has always been to keep costs and profits at a minimum so that it can sell good food cheap.

The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A&P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors. How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?

Actually, there is no question that this suit, if successful, will mean higher food prices for A&P customers.

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

The anti-trust lawyers admit that we pass along these manufacturing savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

But, the anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

This means that if these A&P brands continued to be manufactured, you would have to pay higher prices for them wherever you found them.

The anti-trust lawyers say that food prices would go down in other stores. They claim that food manufacturers would be able to sell cheaper to other grocers because they would not have to make up alleged losses they now incur in selling to A&P.

This, of course, is pure nonsense: The suppliers who voluntarily seek our business and are now rushing to our defense obviously find it profitable to deal with A&P. Actually, their sales to this company enable them to build up their volume, reduce their costs, and sell more cheaply to all grocers.

The elimination of A&P from the picture would tend to increase, rather than decrease, the wholesale cost of food; and this, in turn, will be reflected in increases in retail prices.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Others Will Be Hurt

If A&P is destroyed, no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor.

Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A&P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply, and grows big in the process.

Such a decision would mean the end of the vigorous, healthy price competition which has given this country the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people anywhere in the history of the world.

The anti-trust lawyers are trying to give a new interpretation to the anti-trust laws that, instead of preserving competition, will reduce competition. They are trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country.

Make no mistake about it. If they succeed in destroying A&P they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

ECONOMY is the watchword of every well-ordered kitchen; but there comes a time when accumulated savings on food entitle a family to a culinary spree.

This time of year is ideal for that occasional splurge, and nothing provides a more satisfying escape from day-in-and-day-out budget vigilance than a fine, rare roast beef with Yorkshire pudding.

That's why the A & P Service for Homemakers suggests a beef-roast treat this Sunday. It is not only one of America's top choices for the week-end feast, but also a reliable base for a variety of "left-over" combinations later in the week.

A good cut of from six to eight pounds is recommended for a family of four. Wipe roast with damp cloth but do not wash. Rub with salt in proportion to one teaspoon per pound. Rub with pepper, onion or garlic if desired and place meat, fat side up, on rack of pan.

If meat has little or no fat, place strips of bacon, salt pork or suet over it. This will baste the roast and no other basting is needed. Do not add water and do not cover pan.
 If meat thermometer is to be used, insert into center of thickest part of cut, being sure bulb of thermometer does not touch bone or fat.

Roast at an oven temperature of 300 degrees (F) for 25 minutes per pound of meat for rare, and 30 to 35 minutes per pound for a medium to well-done roast. To complete this Sunday's ideal dinner, add a green salad, a leafy vegetable, the pudding and a fruit dessert.

Both the discerning gourmet and the robust eater will sing the praises of such a dinner.

By John Addison Robb
(Written especially for INS)
The Winter of 1944-45 I shall always think of as my "Tuscan Winter." Our job in Rome completed, the military government unit to which I was attached was ordered to the town of Chianciano to prepare for operations in northern Italy as soon as the Gothic Line broke.

As it turned out, the Gothic Line didn't break until Spring. For four months we sat it out and tried to keep ourselves occupied by undertaking any local bridge building and road repair jobs we could find. Chianciano is one of the age-old fortified hill towns that have dotted Tuscany since the earliest days of the Medici. A relatively few years ago (as time is measured in Italy) it was discovered that the mineral springs just to the west of town had unusual therapeutic value in the treatment of liver ailments and that the hot springs gave relief and comfort to sufferers from rheumatic complaints. As a result, a new spa sprang up and became known as Bagni di Chianciano.

It was at the Bagni, about a mile from the old village, that we were quartered. The hotels, many of which had served as hospitals for the Germans, simplified the question of billets. But let there be no misunderstanding; small, unheated, summer hotels in winter time are not the lap of luxury!

When we moved into Bagni di

Chianciano, it was practically a deserted village. There was no civilian transport available in Italy in those days and the few people who had some means of traveling were far more concerned with other problems than with their lives.

But the native village of Chianciano struggled along. The blacksmith still beat out plows and tools for the farmers, the carpenter and wheelwright still built and repaired the heavy, lumbering oxcarts, the little pottery still turned out its brightly colored ceramics. Somehow the village seemed to eke out an existence.

I was eager to learn how this little section of Italy had fared since the war. And I was amazed at what I saw. Nowhere in Italy did I find as marked and as dramatic a recovery as I did in Chianciano, and especially in its Bagni.

As we drove into Bagni di Chianciano just about dusk, I thought surely a local fiesta was in progress. The road was crowded with people. There were scores of automobiles, bicycles and motor scooters (which make a noise like a machine gun and for that reason delight the hearts of their Italian owners.)

It looked the same yet I hardly recognized it. Hotels and pensions that I remembered as dark and deserted, blazed with light. There was a new garage and a half dozen new hotels. In the center of town a huge signboard proclaimed that this was to be the site of an extensive community center. Work already was underway.

We turned into the driveway of the Alergo Grande, the second (and better, I might add) of the two hotels we occupied during the War.

The gardens, untended and overgrown in 1944, were bright with flowers. There were little tables with gay umbrellas. And when we entered the lobby I saw new furniture and a bright red carpet on the marble stairway.

At dinner that evening we had no more than started our first course when one of the waiters, grinning from ear to ear, stilled up to our table.

"Buona sera, maggiore," he said. "Don't you remember me?" I used to wait on table when you were here during the war."

"Of course," I replied quickly, and as I looked at him I remembered distinctly how he had hustled around our mess. "This is my signora. We've wanted for a long time to come back and visit Chianciano."

So while the guests at his table waited impatiently for their anti-pasta, Lorenzo and I reminisced.

Later on it was the same with the chambermaid.

"I thought I remembered you," she beamed as she plumped the pillows on our bed. "I used to take care of your headquarters."

But it was when I strolled around through the resort that I could see what a tremendous change had taken place. It was "jumping." Stores were well stocked — with goods and customers. There was a dress shop and a cosmetic shop, a souvenir store and a shop where a couple of women were making and selling hand-loomed wool.

On another street was a "night club" and nearby a couple of dozen men and women were intent over a table bowling game with dolls and other trinkets as prizes — exactly like an American carnival.

Next morning we visited the old town. I had a half-hearted hope that I would find a little boy who had "adopted" me when I had been there in uniform.

Primo and I became fast friends. He was from one of the poorest families in this town of poor people. With his mother and father and a younger sister and brother, he lived in a couple of rooms that had been carved out of the old wall around the town. He was about five years old.

We finished our stroll and started back to the car which I had parked just outside the gate into town. I had given up hope of seeing Primo. As I was about to step into the car, I noticed a youngster leaning against the wall at the side of the road, munching a sandwich. Something about his tousled hair seemed familiar. I walked over to him. "Hello, ragazzo," I said. "I had a little friend during the war. He looked just like you."

"You are American?" he asked.

"SI."

"You were here in the war? You were at the Bagni?"

"SI."

"It was me. It was me! I'm Primo!" and in his excitement he almost dropped the rest of his salami sandwich.

We talked for a few minutes. And as we talked I noticed that he seemed plump and healthy and that his clothes were whole and warm. He had shared, it seemed, in the remarkable recovery of Chianciano. I shook his hand, slipped a little present into his pocket and climbed into the car.

As we rolled down the hill, Primo was standing at the side of the road, a half dozen of his playmates around him.

"It was my American. It was my American!" we heard him saying excitedly, then he turned and waved to us.

BETTER MILEAGE

DETROIT — (INS) — Improved driving habits are credited with squeezing a few extra miles out of a gallon of gas nowadays. A Detroit car manufacturer's survey showed 60 per cent of drivers get 17 miles per gallon and seven per cent average 22 or better.

Poinsettia Coffee Cake

Surprise in holiday foods is this unusually shaped coffee cake with candied fruit filling. It's called poinsettia coffee cake.

Delectable coffee cakes such as Stollen are among the traditional specialties of the Yuletide season. Here's a new coffee cake to usher in a new year, poinsettia coffee cake, shaped from an easily handled sweet yeast dough.

Making this coffee cake is much like making those easy cinnamon rolls—in fact, exactly the same up to the point where you have spread cinnamon and sugar over the rolled-out dough. For the coffee cake, sprinkle also with a mixture of chopped candied cherries and chopped green and yellow candied pineapple. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut into six rolls. However, instead of cutting on a straight line as for cinnamon rolls, cut wide rolls, and cut them on a slant.

Arrange filled rolls on greased baking sheet into poinsettia shape as shown, and let rise until doubled before baking. If you like, give the coffee cake a snowy drift of confectioners' icing when cool.

This palate-pleasing coffee cake pleases with its good nutrition, too, especially its generous quota of B-vitamins and iron from enriched flour.

POINSETTIA COFFEE CAKE

- |                                    |  |
|------------------------------------|--|
| 1 package yeast, compressed or dry | 2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)               |
| 1/2 cup lukewarm water             | 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine           |
| 1/2 cup milk                       | 1/4 cup sugar                                      |
| 5 tablespoons sugar                | 1 teaspoon cinnamon                                |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt                  | 1/2 cup chopped candied cherries                   |
| 2 tablespoons shortening           | 1/4 cup chopped green and yellow candied pineapple |
| 1 egg                              |  |

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt, and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about one and one-half hours). When light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Pat or roll into rectangular sheet about one-half inch thick and eight inches wide. Brush with butter or margarine. Spread with one-fourth cup sugar and cinnamon. Mix two tablespoons sugar with chopped fruit. Sprinkle fruit evenly over dough. Roll up like jelly-roll, sealing edge. With a sharp knife make five diagonal cuts completely through the roll. Arrange five sections in a circle on a greased baking sheet with edges touching each other. Place remaining section in the center. Let rise until doubled (about one hour). Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

Makes one poinsettia coffee cake.

if You Have a Teen-Age Daughter

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

MRS. MYERS and I have only one daughter, but we surely have enjoyed her from the time of her birth. We enjoyed her especially in her teen-age years and have enjoyed her still more, if such were possible, since she has grown up, married and has had little children of her own. It's hard for me to imagine any other pair of parents who have enjoyed their children more than Mrs. Myers and I have enjoyed ours. Their regular letters and occasional visits from their homes hundreds of miles away from us are the choicest of our pleasures.

Today I want to talk with you parents who have an adolescent daughter or several of them. Please don't let these precious years slip by without cultivating rich enjoyment with your daughter, you and Dad.

Must Be Mutual

For this enjoyment to be genuine and lasting it must be mutual. She must enjoy you—her parents. I believe that many of you do have happy times with your daughter, that you are proud of her and she is proud of you. In your presence you feel a personal richness and satisfaction. In your memories you have thoughts and feelings which lift you upward. She has like experiences in relation to you. It's a bit of heaven.

Suppose at this very moment she is on a date, at a party or at school. The mention of her name or the thought of her stirs up pleasant feelings or associations in your heart and mind, and fond dreams and aspirations for her, some of which are also her dreams and aspirations.

When she comes home her heart and yours leap high as she tells you of her satisfying day or evening. You share her joys. She knows that anything that is important to her is also important to you and that nothing can be too trivial for your rapt attention.

Problems and Worries

Also when she reports some of her problems and worries she just knows you are listening and feel with her with an understanding mind and sympathetic heart. You share in part these unhappy feelings with her. Because she knows you do, she feels better for unloading them. She also knows that you will find ways in good time to help her turn her thoughts and feelings from her fears and anxieties to hopes and faith in herself.

She knows that you have ever-growing insight into how she feels and looks at things in her experience, since you try so hard always to put yourself in your imagination in her place.

As this lovely daughter mingles with you, Dad and Mother, in the usual doings of the family, before breakfast, at breakfast, at lunch, at dinner, after dinner—anytime—she can feel secure. She knows that none of her expressed ideas and opinions will ever be treated by you as foolish. Indeed, you often ask her for her opinion about all sorts of things, such as current world events, distribution of the family expenditures. You, Mother, may often seek your daughter's advice concerning choice of your clothes; and you, Dad, cherish your daughter's approval of your grooming. (My bulletin, "Fathers Are Parents, Too," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

While some irritations will be inevitable, you parents will be quick to rise above them and restore the perfect atmosphere for mutual enjoyment. Through your skill and effort the moments of strain will grow fewer and shorter and the periods of mutual endearments with your daughter will grow longer and more frequent.

COMING— 100,000 NEW TELEVISION SETS

Electricity is ready for them

That means happy evenings at home for many more families in the Philadelphia area . . . 100,000 television sets added during the coming year to the 230,000 already in use.

There will be plenty of electricity for all to enjoy brilliant pictures and strong, clear sound. There will be a plentiful supply also for the scores of new uses which commerce and industry are finding for electricity, as well as for the many extra appliances people want for their homes.

The usefulness of electricity is growing by leaps and bounds, yet this growth has been measured with slide-rule accuracy for years ahead by your neighbors who operate Philadelphia Electric. Based on this advance planning an expansion program is now in full swing to make sure that in the years to come there will be plenty of electricity for everyone, as there is now.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Attack On Johnson

Washington Dec. 1. HE MAY not be the most tactful man in the world and certainly there are times when his plunging policies, obvious ambitions and personal promotion fail to endear him to the discriminating. Of course, there is room for criticism on various grounds. Nevertheless, there is such a thing as fairness, and the savage attacks upon Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson because of his effort to save some money out of the $15,000,000,000 appropriated for his department seem altogether out of proportion and not easily justified.

TWO things are to be noted about these attacks. One is that they come exclusively from the professional "liberals" who were anti-Johnson before that and chronically anti-economy at all times and places. These are the bright boys who constantly promote the letting economist, Mr. Leon Keyserling, who indicted Dr. Nourse as an "old fuddy duddy" because he believes in the multiplication table and who persistently beat the drums for the ubiquitous Roosevelt brothers, Jimmie and Franklin. They are all more or less affiliated with the self-styled "Americans for Democratic Action," of which Senator (Lippy) Humphreys, of Minnesota, is an outstanding leader.

THE other notable thing is that these attacks reveal the inherent opposition of this element to anything that will save Government money. This is the group which regards saving as silly, and regards less of debt, deficits and the stability of our Federal fiscal foundations, advocates ever faster spending. The very word retrenchment is abhorrent to them. They regard Senator Harry Byrd as a villain and the Hoover report as a sinister instrument, fashioned by evil reactionaries of the McKinley era and primarily designed to "repeal the New Deal." This may seem exaggerated. Actually, it is not far from the truth. Certainly, it is a true reflection of what is in the minds of some of the more ardent disciples of the spending cult. No better proof could be asked than the unrestrained violence of the assault on Mr. Johnson.

IN EFFECT, the Secretary of Defense is accused of planning a cut in defense appropriations that would destroy our national security and leave this country helpless against the potential foe, utterly unable to protect itself. Mr. Johnson, it is held, is doing this dreadful thing to promote his own political ambitions, while Mr. Truman supports him because he does not know any better. Of course, this is complete nonsense. Mr. Truman and Mr. Johnson undoubtedly have their failings. They make plenty of mistakes, but to intimate that either is lacking in patriotism and willing to imperil the safety of the republic for personal political purposes is outrageously false. To be sure, the point can be made against Mr. Truman that it is ridiculous for him to talk about saving money in any department so long as he is demanding enactment of his "wellfare program," the cost of which would make even the two billions Mr. Johnson expects to save next year seem negligible.

BUT no such point can be made against Mr. Johnson. It is absurd to accuse him of willingness to weaken the national defenses merely to make a record for economy. In his recent speech to the American Legion, he made a very able and convincing defense of his economy drive. He is neither an idiot nor a traitor. He isn't out to render our defense plan inadequate. He is out to stop waste without impairing efficiency, and, in the main, he is following the lines of the Hoover report, which, among other little things, shows that if the Army, Navy and Air Force could agree on uniform underwear $7,000,000 a year could be saved; that the reduction of 34,380 motor vehicles to be inactivated by January 15 will save $20,000,000 a year; that the 21,135 chauffeurs and 1,060 recruiting officers to be released for reassignment to military duty will save over $10,000,000. These are just small examples of the way in which operating expenses can be cut without impairing defense. Scores of other suggestions for much larger savings are made, and no informed and fair man has the least doubt that the $2,000,000,000 Mr. Johnson has fixed as a goal can be saved without crippling any part of our defense machine.

AT ANY rate, that is what he has started to do and there seems no reason to believe he will be deterred by the reckless and silly attacks that are being made. The fact is that if he did not make the attempt he would be derelict in his duty and would deserve general condemnation. If he succeeds, he will have greatly strengthened the defense machine because he will have contributed toward the stabilization of our Federal financial structure upon which everything, including defense, depends. If Mr. Johnson can eliminate waste and duplication in the armed forces, he will have fully justified unification and deserve the thanks of the American people. As for politics, if he succeeds in his avowed purpose, it is inevitable that he will be a much stronger figure than he is now. On the other hand, if later it turns out that this effort was mainly a matter of publicity and that he has weakened or been diverted, then he will have earned neither credit nor respect—and he will not get either.

SPORT NOTES

"Bob" Felter, flashy Morrisville back, ended the season with 105 points. This is believed to be a new record for individual scoring in Lower Bucks County.

There is a report that Syracuse University is interested in "Eddie" Oliver, star passing and kicking back of the Bensalem Township championship eleven. Oliver is one of the best field generals developed in this section for quite some time.

"Charlie" Johnson, backfield ace of Morrisville's 1948 team, is now with the U. S. Navy. He played in the backfield of the Boston Navy football team this season. Last week he played in Miami, Fla. against a Florida Navy team.

Several weeks ago, Harry Bauroth, refereed a Bristol High game and saw "Bill" Condit throw three touchdown passes and Joe Wallick drop-kick a pair of extra points. It brought back memories to Harry for in 1936 when he was wearing a Bristol High uniform, Harry made 24 out of 30 extra point conversions via placements. That season, he threw ten touchdown passes. That year's team won nine out of its ten scheduled games, Abington inflicting the only defeat.

That forfeit game of Morrisville to Pennsylvania cost the Bulldogs the 1949 Lower Bucks County championship. If Morrisville had not used an ineligible player in the game it won, it would have had 10 points for the season, one more than Bensalem.

Harry Ratcliffe, pole vaulter and high jumper, who chalked up many points for Bristol High in track during the past three seasons, is now attending the Williamson Trade School.

The St. Ann's representatives, Manager Anthony Angelo and Athletic Director John Scordia, deserve credit for having the final playoff game of the Northeast Football Conference played at the Pennell Memorial field. An enclosed field is not available here so St. Ann's did the next best possible, secure the closest enclosed park which is at Pennell.

The Purple and Gold have a better than even chance of winning the crown which it failed to do in 1946. Out of all the teams we have seen in action, St. Ann's appears to be the best, although Dittman held the "Saints" to a 20-18 score and may have won had the game not ended when it did.

One of the best improved players in years is "Bill" Foltz, now attending West Chester State Teachers College. Foltz has the drive that the fans love to see in a lineman.

"Doc" Righter, former Langhorne High back, ended a wonderful 1949 season with George School.

The 1949-50 season of the Bristol Basketball League opens Sunday evening, December 18th, on the Rohm & Haas floor.

Reading Catholic, Bristol's court opponent for its opener on December 9th, plays some of the best teams in the up-state section of Pennsylvania. Hazelton, Pottsville, Pottstown, Bethlehem, and Allentown are on the Reading team's schedule.

Stan Lelinski will manage the two

Alumni teams that will face Bristol on Tuesday, December 13th.

Morrisville High opens this Friday evening against Hatboro on its home court.
